CPSRI Working Paper 2024-6-15

June 2024

ABSTRACT

Explosive growth in the ice bath and cold plunge equipment industry has led to the formation of several new ventures supplying cold plunge equipment. As is typical of new industries, there are few performance standards, self-regulatory bodies, and short-term incentives for companies with little investment in long-lasting brand value. This accountability void can encourage irresponsible business practices and deceptive marketing techniques.

This analysis examined two common complaints within the high-end cold plunge industry:

1. advertised warranty coverage vs fine print, and
2. return & refund policy.

Our findings corroborate customer anecdotes and online reviews that depict the cold plunge equipment industry as rife with deceptive marketing claims and exploitive business practices, including advertising products in use cases for which they are not warrantied, excessive limitations and exclusions, overstatements of the duration of warranties, and charging exorbitant order cancellation or restocking fees that may cause consumers to feel trapped in transactions they would otherwise exit.

Introduction

Complaints regarding marketing claims, customer service, warranty, and refund policies in the cold plunge and ice bath equipment industry in the United States are commonplace on online forums, such as Reddit.¹ Additionally, customers have been reporting to Morozko sales staff with increasing frequency that the marketing and warranty claims they read on competing websites turned out to be deceptive and underperforming in practice. These reports included complaints about defective components, the voiding of warranties via seemingly normal use, warranty duration not-as-advertised, and unexpected limitations and exclusions on repairs and returns, and excessive limitations and exclusions. Thus, customers often seek assurances from Morozko that the warranty policies stated are consistent with how they are practiced.

To satisfy these inquiries, and better understand the industry-wide warranty/return offerings and expectations, Morozko Media staff conducted this analysis.

Excluded from this analysis are the myriad of inexpensive, interchangeable plastic or inflatable containers on the market which include no refrigeration or water filtration. Also excluded are modified stock tanks, chest freezers and other “DIY” cold plunge solutions. We chose to focus on high-end products that require some degree of technological sophistication which demand greater customer support. These are not only more likely to break, but are sold at a higher price point and, thus, represent a more significant investment for the customer. The companies included in this analysis are, in alphabetical order:

- Blue Cube
- Brass Monkey
- Chilly GOAT
- Morozko Forge
- Odin
- Plunge
- Polar Monkeys
- Renu Therapy

A Note on Warranties

What are warranties?

Warranties give customers peace of mind that a manufacturer will bear the expense of a product that fails to function as advertised. In other words, it’s a promise to a customer that a seller will honor their end of the transaction: X dollars for a product that will do Y. Another function of a warranty is giving the customer an idea of how confident the seller is in the quality and performance of their products. A short, limited warranty is likely to communicate quality issues while a longer, more extensive warranty reassures the customer that the product is high quality with reliable performance expectations. Finally, discrepancies between advertised warranties and fine print can be perceived as deceptive and lead to mistrust of sellers. Ideally, recognition of these discrepancies would occur before the transaction is completed but, too often, profit-driven ventures are motivated to obscure this kind of information in order to close sales, and the disconnect is only realized on the customer end when the need for warranty service or returns arises, leading to disappointment and a feeling of being taken advantage of.

That being said, warranties are not required, or even expected, to be all-inclusive. It is customary for certain limitations and/or exclusions to be included in the fine print. Reasonable examples of this include limitations on coverage for replacement filters, given dirty filters qualify as a normal maintenance issue vs a defective component, and exclusions for damage caused by misuse or abuse of product, which is no fault of the manufacturer.

Noted in this document are warranty details, limitations, exclusions, representations that either provide a reference point for comparison between products (e.g. “30-day return window”) or those which we believe exceed reasonable expectations, or appear to conflict with advertised coverage or terms.

Why are cold plunge warranties so limited and misleading?

The emergence of native advertising, guerilla marketing, and the success of media manipulation² have made deceptive marketing in the digital marketplace de rigueur. Also, the skyrocketing demand for cold plunges and ice baths seems to have motivated many companies to take the fastest path to market --without understanding the challenges inherent to the technology they are selling -- in the hopes of capitalizing on the peak of a trend.

Countless virtually indistinguishable cold plunge companies have flooded the market in the last several years and few of those retailers appear to understand the performance limitations inherent to the products being sold. Designing, engineering, and producing a consistently-performing ice bath (or even a standalone tub with a hose-connected chiller) requires a basic understanding of the physical capabilities and limitations of various materials, as well as a working knowledge of both water chemistry and thermodynamics. While it may be rare in modern times for the typical CEO of an online retailer to understand the technology contained in the products they sell, someone in the company must, or product performance and service will inevitably suffer.

It’s also important to note that the critical components comprising the vast majority of cold plunges are manufactured inexpensively overseas. The retailers of these plunges are likely passing on to their customers the costs of using unreliable, inconsistently-performing, internationally-sourced parts that are not subject to the same quality or consumer protection standards as are customary in the United States.

The warranty documentation and return policies posted online reflect the shortcomings of the burgeoning cold plunge industry. They typically communicate:

² Holiday R. 2012. Trust Me, I’m Lying. <https://www.goodreads.com/book/show/13542853-trust-me-i-m-lying>

1. an unwillingness or an inability on the part of cold plunge manufacturers to stand by their products, and/or,
2. poor/misleading communication of that unwillingness and/or inability.

An overview of the practices of each company with regard to warranties is summarized in the next section. All information included below is true to the best of our knowledge at the time of writing, and is substantiated via screenshots and publicly available documentation accessed via the various brands' websites.

Analysis Summary

Blue Cube

<https://bluecubebaths.com/>

NOTE TO READER: Blue Cube’s 6800-word “Terms of Use,” prohibits the quotation, screenshotting, or any restatement of any of their advertising claims and warranty terms without express permission from Blue Cube. We encourage readers to review Blue Cube’s Terms of Use, Warranty, and Refund Policy for themselves, especially if considering purchase.

Warranty Summary

Blue Cube offers a line of cold plunges comprising polyurea-covered wood cabinets with stainless-steel tubs and wooden deck options that range in price from $9999 to $25,999+.

Blue Cube advertises a “5 Year Standard Warranty” and uses Adobe stock image #526673097 on several of its website pages.

Details from Blue Cube’s downloadable warranty document:

1. Blue Cube’s advertised five (5) year warranty covers frame, tub, electrical system, and plumbing only.
2. The chiller, motor, water pump, and ozone system warranty duration is limited to 1.5 years.
3. In the event of a malfunction or defect, customers are responsible for finding their own repair technician and submitting them for approval to Blue Cube.
4. Travel or service fees charged by third party techs may be charged to the customer.

6. Lids are excluded from warranty coverage.

7. Wood is excluded from warranty coverage.
8. No coverage for defects or damage due to commercial use.

Returns & Refunds

- Blue Cube charges a 25% restocking fee for cancellations prior to shipping.
- 30-day return period on standard units, minus shipping costs and 25% restocking fee, provided returns are unused and in original packaging.
- No cancellations, refunds, or returns are available on “custom*” units.

*NOTE: The descriptor “custom” appears to include, among other options, any non-black color choice on any model, which could mean that choosing any color other than black at check-out could render an order non-cancellable and non-returnable. Customers should take care to clarify this potential exclusion with Blue Cube.

Brass Monkey

<https://www.brassmonkey.co/>

Warranty Summary

Brass Monkey is a UK-based manufacturer offers various single-unit, ice-making models with Corian, wood, steel, or aluminum cabinets and acrylic or stainless steels tubs, as well as a whiskey barrel cold plunge model and several modular “spa range” commercial options, with prices ranging from $8006 - $17,079+ for the former and $13,343 - $73,295+ for the latter.

Brass Monkey advertises an “extended 5-year warranty with every Bath or Plunge.”

The screenshot shows the Brass Monkey website header with navigation links: Shop Range, Commercial, Discover, About, Contact. Below the header, there are two columns of content. The left column features a snowflake icon and the heading "Automated ice creation". Below this, it states: "In every Ice Bath and Plunge, our patented technology runs what we call Ice Cycles. When set below 2°, the bottom of the bath will freeze, creating 20-30mm sheets of ice that break up as it's released into the water." The right column features a checkmark icon and the heading "Guaranteed peace of mind". Below this, it states: "Buy with total confidence knowing we've got your back with an extended 5 year warranty with every Bath or Plunge, as part of your care and support package."

Details from Brass Monkey’s online warranty document:

1. For residential units, Brass Monkey’s advertised five (5) year warranty applies only to the cooling system and on-board computer (if setup via proprietary app within 30 days of delivery.) The warranty for all other parts including plumbing, cladding and covers is limited to two (2) years.
2. For commercial units, Brass Monkey offers a one (1) year limited warranty on all parts including cooling system, plumbing, cladding and covers, and offers a 7-day service guarantee if unable to solve warranty issues over the phone.
3. Wood is not covered.

Brass Monkey extends a 1-year Limited Warranty for commercial/pro ice baths, plunges or barrels.

Also of note: On several product pages, Brass Monkey advertises a “2 Year Limited Warranty” and a “Guaranteed 5 Year Warranty” for the same product, which is presumed to be an error but is likely confusing for the customer. (see below)*

Chilly GOAT

Warranty

Chilly GOAT is a subsidiary of Master Spas that advertises a non-specific “industry-leading warranty.” Chilly GOAT’s cold plunge line consists of four products, including two cold plunges with internally-housed chillers priced at $10,619+. Chilly GOAT offers an optional extended warranty administered by third party, XCover, which costs between $599.99 - $1099.99, dependent upon model and coverage term.

Chilly GOAT’s commercial warranty is described on their website as “industry-best” and increases the price of any unit by $500. An extended commercial warranty is also available from 3rd party, XCover.

This screenshot shows a section of the Chilly GOAT website titled "Industry-best commercial warranty". The navigation bar is identical to the previous screenshot. The text in the main content area reads: "Michael Phelps Chilly GOAT Cold Tubs by Master Spas are designed to last. But if you need help or service, your investment is protected by an industry-best warranty from the world’s largest swim spa manufacturer. Extended warranties are also available."

Details from Chilly GOAT’s online warranty document:

1. For residential units, Chilly GOAT offers a two (2) year, parts-only limited warranty on tub structure & surface and 1-year, parts-only warranty on all other components.
2. Costs of shipping, installation, and labor for replacement of defective parts and units are "sole responsibility of Purchaser."
3. "Access charges will be assessed if the cold tub is not reasonably accessible for inspection, repair or replacement."
4. Cabinet panels are not warrantied.
5. Warranty begins at purchase date and, at the time of this analysis, both cold plunge product pages advertise a 2-week lead time to shipping. Adding another week for delivery, more than 5% of the customer's warranty period passes before the customer receives their cold plunge.

NOTE: Given almost every other brand includes warranty coverage of more components for longer duration and at least some coverage of some labor costs, claims of "industry-leading" and "industry-best" are objectively false.*

- Returns from chillygoattubs.com are accepted within 30-days of delivery.
- Purchases made through MasterSpas' many dealers are ineligible for return.

- All returns subject to a 10% "restocking" fee.

This policy is strictly applicable to purchases made only on ChillyGOATTubs.com. Refund requests cannot be submitted for purchases made at an authorized Master Spas retailer. This policy is strictly applicable to requests made by the original retail purchaser. An original order or invoice, for proof of purchase, must be provided.

To be eligible for a return, your item must be in the same condition that you received it (unused, or "like new" condition) with original labeling or tags, and in its original packaging (or substitute packaging supplied by Chilly GOAT by Master Spas at an additional cost to the purchaser).

Given the linked online Residential warranty document explicitly states that “Plunges used in commercial applications are excluded from any coverage whatsoever,” there is likely a separate commercial warranty that is not posted online. WARRANTY LIMITATIONS

This Residential Limited Warranty is void if: Used in a commercial setting, the Manufacturer or its designated representative determines that the spa has been subjected to alteration, neglect, misuse or abuse, or freight damage caused by the common carrier; any repairs have been attempted by anyone other than a designated representative; or if the failure is caused by accident, acts of God or other causes beyond the control of the Manufacturer. Neglect, misuse and abuse include any installation, operation or maintenance of the Plunge other than in accordance with the instructions contained in the owner's manual provided with the Plunge, including but not limited to the failure to maintain proper water chemistry and chemical balance and the use of abrasive or improper cleaners or non-genuine parts and accessories.

This Limited Warranty does not provide coverage for the insulating cover, any item attached to or installed on the Plunge after the date of manufacture, or for gaining access to any component for repair or replacement. Plunge's used in commercial applications are excluded from any coverage whatsoever.

The Plunge owner accepts liability for repair work performed by anyone other than the Manufacturer or a designated Plunge representative. Plunge is not responsible for work performed on any units outside of the United States.

It does not cover uses not in accordance with instruction manual. It does not cover commercial use of the product. It specifically excludes products for which PMS has not received payment. This warranty does not cover damage as a result of poor water chemistry, neglected filter care and replacement, freezing conditions, power outages, lack of attention to low water flow, or any other form of neglect, misuse or abuse. Certain other exclusions apply, as further described below.

- Customers pay all associated costs for replacement of defective parts or tubs

Renu Therapy

<https://www.renutherapy.com/>

Warranty

Renu offers three variations of their “engineered and assembled in the USA” cold plunge, all featuring single-unit, acrylic tub + internally-housed chiller models with prices ranging from $9699 to over $14,000. Their homepage boasts a “5-Year Limited Warranty on all cold plunge tanks.”

Details from Renu’s online warranty documents:

1. The 5-year term applies only to supporting components. The chiller, which cools the water, is only covered for one year. An extended chiller warranty is available for purchase and costs between $299 - $499, depending on the unit.
2. Renu's most expensive model, *The Siberian, which is their largest cold plunge, marketed toward "larger customers 6'10" and/or 290 lbs. (and over)" only includes a 1-year warranty for all components, despite the claim of 5-year coverage for all models on the home page.
3. Renu's commercial warranty, which applies to any tub variation placed in a commercial setting, is also limited to a 1-year warranty.
4. Renu's warranty terms begin at the shipping date, not the delivery date, which burns the customer's warranty coverage time while the product is enroute.
5. Warranty scope is "parts-only" coverage.
6. Repairs are expected to be performed by customers, and repairs that require a tech are limited to $100 in total labor costs per claim ($50/hr for max 2 hours).
7. All shipping costs related to defective parts or units covered under the limited warranty are the responsibility of the customer.
